

GET TO KNOW

Maddie Beckmann

GWS MAJOR

Leadership is important to me because it shows us how capable we are of anything and everything, while encouraging communication, teamwork, and confidence in an individual's abilities. My dream is to create my own sexual education curriculum, working with state and federal government officials to implement it on a grand scale. I also plan on going back to school to get a Master's in Curriculum Design and Instruction.

GET TO KNOW

Mica Ledesma

GWS MAJOR

Learning to be an inclusive and nurturing leader is important to me because I enjoy helping to create environments in which others feel empowered to share and collaborate for a better and more inclusive future. When I graduate I want to work in something related to comprehensive women's health!

FLOW: Feminist Leaders for Opportunity and Wellness
Gender and Women's Studies
UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN-MADISON

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT

EMILY ROEMER
GWS MAJOR

Leadership is important to me because it nurtures both professional and personal growth-- from inspiring potential career paths to building communication and problem-solving skills. After I graduate, I want to pursue graduate studies in GWS and continue community organizing for social justice.

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT

ASHLEY NY SSE
GWS CERTIFICATE

Leadership is important to me because it gives me the ability to empower those around me to use their voices for collective change. After I graduate, I plan to work in women's health, advocating for increased attention to reproductive disorders and infertility.

GET TO KNOW

Brianna Washington

GWS MAJOR

Leadership is important to me because it enables me to establish a foundation that uplifts underrepresented communities and fosters meaningful change. When I graduate, I plan to pursue my master's degree and continue working on initiatives that address maternal and reproductive health disparities affecting Black women and women of color.

Center for Research on Gender & Women

ALL ARE WELCOME!